Development of Jameson estate under fire

At Tuesday evening's Sierra Madre City Council meeting, councilmembers found out quickly that it was not a foregone conclusion that the community would accept the proposed project that would subdivide the Jameson Estate property (More information is available in the nearby Planning Commission article.) between Grandview and Highland, into lots to construct 14 homes.

Several residents, most of them prefacing their comments with, "I'm not in opposition, but . . .," were concerned about the possible loss of trees, fire prevention, density, and the open space left into a park-like area by developers.

The council continued the hearing to May 10 when a decision for or against the project will be made.

Mayor Clem Bartolai threw a little bomb out when he announced that he wanted to to place a hillside development moratorium on the agenda for the May 10 meeting. Several residents have been wondering when the council would take action on this festering problem.

Tim Good of Booth-Good Architects, project designers, told councilpersons, "The key things that relate to the community are the quiet, family-oriented feeling, the low key homes, the strong pedestrian section of the community. There are over 100 great trees on the estate and we have set up four plans: 11, two-story home and three one-story homes with lofts. We have designed three architectural styles typical of the community: Mediterranean, Tudor and a wood shingle style bungalow.

"Our homes have garages in the rear and we are staggering the homes to reduce visual impact. Fire Marshal (William) Kramer suggested installing sprinklers in the homes and posting parking on only one side of the streets which we suggest being reduced to 28 feet wide. Lot widths are from 75 to 160 feet and exceed minimum code requirements. We plan to design a park for visual relief, an area left natural, and it will be deeded to the city. At the request of Arthur Kirk, now deceased, administrator of the estate, we will install a 6-ft. fieldstone wall around the estate. Fourteen oaks, four pines and five other trees will be relocated and we expect a loss of 10 percent of those trees.

Commission tentatively approves Jameson project

By William Olmstead

Residents took advantage of an opportunity to voice their views on the proposed Alexander/Cantania development project at last Thursday's meeting of the Sierra Madre Planning Commission.

The project, also known as the Jameson Estate subdivision, calls for 14 new housing units to be built on a 17-lot site west of Grove Street and bounded on the north and south by Grandview and Highland Avenues respectively. The plan is also contingent upon maintaining the historic Baker-Jameson house on its present location and moving two other traditional buildings, the Decke house and the green cabin, onto the grounds of the Baker-Jameson estate.

Commission members gave tentative approval to the project late last year awaiting the completion of an environmental impact report. Tim Good of Booth - Good Architects, project designers, answered questions from the commissioners concerning the new report. The questions centered on possible discrepancies between the new report and the original plan as presented to the commission last year.

The meeting was then opened for public comment and several residents of Sierra Woods Drive, adjacent to the development, spoke of their concerns, among them the preservation of trees, particularly oaks and redwoods, on the site and the narrowness of a proposed new street through the development.

Good responded to the residents, noting that a complete tree plan will be presented to the City Council showing exactly which trees will be relocated, removed or left untouched. He also said that the narrowness of the new street allowed for bigger lots with more parking area, lessening impact on traffic.

Commission Chairman John Watter assured the residents that their comments were being recorded and would be provided to the City Council for its april 26 meeting when it will review the project.

Following the development issue, the commission decided on a continuance on the matter of a storage building for Fred Crockett.

Grand marshal suggestions needed

May 16 is the final date for submitting suggestions for the grand marshal for this year's July 4 parade. They may be submitted to the Sierra Madre News office, 9 Kersting Court.

The July 4 activities committee announces that the July 4 T-shirts are available at Paper Palace, Happy's Wines and Spirits, Arnold's Hardward and City Hall, for $10. They come in adult sizes, S, M, L, and XL and for children, S, M, and L.

Applications for entering the Sierra Madre July 4 parade are available at the Chamber of Comerce office and at City Hall.

Main Street featured May 5

Marie Hartley, Sierra Madre volunteer coordinator, announced this week that the Coordinating Council is scheduled for Thursday, May 5, featuring Ron Hutson, Main Street coordinator. Hutson will give a pictorial presentation at the meeting, 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

All organizations will be notified and should be represented, Hartley says.

"Community members are invited to hear about this vital program that is so badly needed," Hartley noted.

Ecklund produces winning float

Robert Ecklund, a self-employed technical writer from Los Angeles, will provide the winning entry for the Sierra Madre Rose Float in 1989. Ecklund's entry was chosen at Monday evening's meeting of the Rose Float Associaton.

The float is entitled "Celestial Celebration — 100 years of Astronomy at Mt. Wilson," and it features the first telescope brought to Mt. Wilson on the back of a mule 100 years ago. Harvard College Observatory set up the station on Mt. Wilson at that time.

The float also shows the present 100-inch telescope dome and solar tower. A rainbow arches over the dome which is studded with stars and planets. A woman swings from the rainbow. Animated animals are celebrating the anniversary as they peer at the sky through telescopes.

Members of the association found this entry particularly fitting, they say, since the theme of the Tournament of Roses this year is "Celebration 100," also celebrating the Tournament's 100th anniversary.

Ecklund is a volunteer at the Mt. Wilson Institute and was formerly a long-time resident of Altadena. He lives in Los Angeles.

The Rose Float Association extends and invitation to possible new members to attend the May 23 meeting at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

Spring Clean-up set for Saturday

At Spring Clean-up Day Saturday, Apr. 30, no liquids, paint, oil or other containers of toxic material will be accepted at the city yards. Hours of the annual clean-up, free to non-commercial Sierra Madre residents, are from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Western Waste Industries assists the city in providing a free disposal day service to the community.

A drivers' license must be shown to the reserve officer at the entrance to city yards on East Sierra Madre Blvd., just pass the cemetery. Access is from Sierra Madre Blvd. only.

Library wins coveted John Cotton Dana Award

By Marylyn Barnes

There's great excitement and jubilation at the Sierra Madre Public Library. Why? The staff has just been notified that the library is the 1988 winner of the John Cotton Dana Public Relations Award Contest, chosen from a field of 120 entries.

This prestigious international award, sponsored jointly by the American Library Association and the H. W. Wilson Company, is given each year to the public library that presents the most outstanding program in both quality and effectiveness. The award has been given annually since 1946.

Talented Librarians Marilyn Peppin and Mary Williams encapsulated the library's year long centennial activities into a scrapbook format, with clearly stated goals and clean, crisp graphics.

Setting the tone on the first page is a picture of the original library with the single line, "The library began as the dream of a people . . ." (from Margaret Duran's "A Centennial Celebration"), written in Mary Williams' flowing calligraphy. Use has been made of all kinds of centennial memorabilia — programs from the events, publicity releases, entries into children's contests, Summer Reading Club, winning photos — all combined into a cohesive whole. Not only is the book aesthetically beautiful, it incorporates all the library's activities and services this past year, and stresses the fact that all the events were funded by public donations.

City Librarian Toni Buckner will accept the award at the American Library Association Conference in New Orleans on July 11. The winning scrapbook will be on display at that time. It then goes to the ALA Headquarters Library for two years where it will be available on loan to interested libraries. Then it comes back to Sierra Madre.

Though this honor has been destowed upon the library, it is a distinction in which the whole community can take pride. We have a singular and most outstanding library in Sierra Madre. Hats off for a job well-done.

LIBRARY REPRESENTATIVES INVOLVED IN SPECIAL AWARD — Those from Sierra Madre Public Library who are principals in making the special award possible are Donna Watkins, children's librarian; Toni Buckner, city librarian; Margaret Duran, associate librarian; Mary Williams, library assistant; Marilyn Peppin, library assistant; Alice Stornie, library assistant; and Marylyn Barnes, library assistant.

The hands flex muscles yea or nay

Guest editorial by Richard R. Rogers

Beyond speaking, nothing communicates quite like our hands. An angry fist, a thumbs up, or a peace sign need no amplification. We can make friends or enemies by one motion of the hand, and most of us have done so. Some of us, however, come close to oblivion by such gestures. Two recent events make my point.

The Northbound Pasadena Freeway is an old but pleasant stretch of road. Interesting homes, graffiti and greenery give commuters an easy transition to life after work. There are a few who rush into life after work. They are seen poking and prodding from lane to lane looking for that impossible straight shot up the Arroyo. A lane change is too abrupt and a horn blares, then loudly spoken but unheard words are exchanged. Not enough. This guy has to get the point . . . so he gets the extended digit. The jaw flexing and digit extending continues to an off-ramp. The offender breaks rubber in stopping and steps out with a tire iron in time to see the object of his vexation step out of his car with an axe handle. The portent of pain defuses the speed king and he gives one last flung digit and burns rubber in retreat. No police action, no bashed head, no felony, no case.

Episode number two is not so easily put away. A young man we'll call Alfred is driving with a friend on Ventura Boulevard. It is close to midnight. Unknown to them, a robbery has just occurred at a fast food restaurant on Reseda Boulevard. A car description is broadcast to police units in the area and two suspects are described as well as the gun used in the robbery. Unfortunately, Alfred and friend are close to this location and their car closely fits the description of the car used in the robbery. Alfred has done nothing wrong except he carries a large Buck knife in his back pocket.

Suddenly, red and blue lights flash behind them. Alfred pulls into a parking lot and, as he starts to get out, tries to slide the Buck knife into the seat crevice. The cop is yelling at him to get out and keep his hands exposed, but Alfred peeks toward the seat and sees a part of the knife still sticking out. He makes a final push to conceal it. A shot is fired and Alfred takes a bullet in the shoulder. Alfred's hand move was communication of the worst kind. The cop twice ordered — didn't ask, plead or request — ordered Alfred to get out and keep his hands where he could see them.

The right or wrong of that encounter is not what we're dealing with right now. You can be sure a major investigation would take place and all aspects of the shooting evaluated. We can look into one facet of the encounter. The attitudes of Alfred and the cop.

Alfred, when the police stop him, thinks they will find the knife and he'll get into trouble. The cops, aware that this could very well be the armed robbery vehicle, order the occupants out and intend to neutralize any threat. Alfred's repeated moves to conceal his knife alert them. Their eyes see his hand reach for something after being told to keep his hands clear. Alfred has communicated with his hands. It isn't generally known, then now is the time to make it so: Cops, when making vehicle stops, or dealing with events that have obvious dangers, want to see something before anything else, a pair of hands. Hands that don't reach for waistbands to throw away a lid of weed, that don't hide beer cans under seats and don't remain in jacket pockets because their owners "haven't done anything wrong."

If some of us are still finding some sustenance in 1960s Confrontation Chowder, we should change our diet. When a cop orders us to freeze, stop, or raise our hands, we should do so. If we are totally innocent, and he put his foot in it, then we can get solace from the field sergeant or the watch commander. We shouldn't hold court in the field.

The bottom line is that many of us are doing provocative and very dangerous things in our hands while we are out exercising the Great American Pastime — driving around in our cars.

What we do or don't do with our hands can sometimes take a situation totally out of our hands, and it's time to give that a little thought.

● Ruth Difley was in to tell us that she sees Red Dowding often and always calls him to give him "the news" after she reads the Sierra Madre News each week.

She tells us that Mr. Dowding could surely use some cheery cards because he sometimes feels very alone over at the Singing Oak Guest Home. He is now blind and finds adjusting to that problem difficult.

He is available at Singing Oaks, 110 N. Mountan Ave., Monrovia. You'll all recall that he is the former Red Car motorman and, in fact, took the last car out of town.

Think of him . . .

Thanks to Fire Department

We would like to publicly express our thanks and appreciation to our efficient and capable Sierra Madre Fire Department.

We, recently, had a "disaster" in our office. The roof was leaking, water was cascading down the walls. In our distress, we called the Fire Department and they responded immediately. Not only the regular Fire Department, but a number of other volunteers.

We appreciated their assistance in moving, covering and stacking our files in a manner to give us the least difficulty.

Again, thanks to our Sierra Madre Fire Department.

Notes from the Attic

By Gertrude Gerke

— April, 1932: Prince, who lived here died while visiting friends in Los Angeles. His romantic story was that he was Prince John Guelph de Windsor, claiming to be the son of King Edward VII of England . . . Mail delivery started at Canyon Park this month by mounted carrier. Mail boxes were to be placed close enough to the street for a carrier to be able to place mail in them from his car.

— Apr. 30, 1953: Dr. George W. Groth Jr. announced the singing of a contract with Clayton Wesley Cook for building the Sierra Madre Medical Center . . . Anne Avon recently returned from a month's training with her new Seeing Eye Dog, "Rusty." She is now lending her guide companion to MGM Studio to star in a picture with Joan Crawford and Michael Wilding. The dog will be delivered to her each evening since she misses Rusty's companionship . . . Gordon Baker Lloyd wed Dorothy Dahl Latham of Rosemead . . . Patty and Billy Shier of Hastings Ranch were guest stars on Uncle Archie's TV Show, Channel 4, last Thursday. Billy, a Cub Scout, showed viewers his model train and his coin collection and Patty displayed her ceramic pieces.

— May 2, 1963: Sierra Madre Park Dept. has now completed the majority of playground and picnic development in Memorial Park . . . The Master Play of the city of Sierra Madre has been adopted for the purpose of establishing a comprehensive, long-term General Plan for the physical development of the city and has been adopted in conforming with the government code of the state . . . An eastbound auto driven by Louis A. Schneidwind plowed into a parked car in front of Happy's. The parked car pushed into the store's front window.

Police Blotter

Sierra Madre Police answered 112 calls for service, among them the following:

— Apr. 18: A 4-year-old child pulled an auto out of gear and the car rolled into traffic, hitting a parked auto in the 100 block of S. Hermosa.

There was a robbery/purse snatch when a woman, 37, was accosted late evening in the driverway of her home at Laurel and Canon. Two males were waiting for her when she returned home, grabbed her purse and ran. She had minor abrasions. The suspects were males about 20 years old. The victim lost $150 in cash.

— Apr. 19: Unsafe left turn was the cause of an accident between an auto and moving vehicle at Michillinda and Orange Grove.

Failure to yield to through traffic was the cause of a noninjury accident at Mountain Trail and Highland.

A male, 34, or Arcadia, was arrested for driving under the influence at Mountain Trail and Sierra Madre Blvd.

— Apr. 20: No crimes reported.

— Apr. 21: A boulevard stop violation and rainy conditions were the cause of a noninjury accident between an auto and a moving vehicle at Sierra Madre Blvd. and Mountain Trail.

— Apr. 22: Left turn violation was the cause of a traffic collision between an auto and moving vehicle at Orange Grove and Oak Meadow.

— Apr. 23: There was an attempted theft of a car fender of a locked vehicle in the 400 block of Mariposa.

A malicious mischief report of a broken window in the 100 block of Mariposa was reported.

— Apr. 24: No crimes reported.

Chief Bill Betts reports five subjects were arrested for outstanding warrants.

Triple treat at Preservation meeting

A Pinney House tour, Dr. Robert Winter and John Shuler, antique glass specialist, are the triple treat in store for the Sierra Madre Preservation Society at their next meeting, Wednesday, May 4, 7:30 p.m. at the Pinney house, 225 N. Lima.

David Weckerly, Preservation Society member and Pinney House owner, will tour the group through the 1887 Victorian treasure, built as Sierra Madre's second hotel. Now undergoing restoration by Weckerly, the three story building is presently a candidate for the National Register of Historic Places. The Pinney House is also on the list of Sierra Madre's historic buildings and in doing the restoration Weckerly has been the first owner of a landmark structure to take advantage of the benefits available through Sierra Madre's Preservation Ordinance which was passed last October by the city.

Dr. Robert Winter, renowned architectual historian, will be with the group again at this meeting and will share information about Joseph Newsom, Pinney House architect, and his brother Samuel. The Newsom brothers were famed architects of

SNF expands activities

Sierra Madre Skilled Nursing Facility patient activities have been expanded to include three new programs: reality awareness, group exercise and grooming, according to Silvia Samuelson, patient activities director.

The program already includes a number of activities, such as craft and community service projects, current events, games, sensory awareness, cooking, socials, special outings and a variety of musical, religious and specialty programs. The specialty programs include such diverse activities as sing-alongs, visiting pets, magic and puppet shows, film and slide shows, birthday parties and holiday celebrations.

Samuelson noted that the program benefits from the help of a number of dedicated volunteers, but with the addition of the three new activities, which are offered five days a week, Monday through Friday, many more helping hands are needed.

"We are hoping that many more volunteers from the community will join us in our new endeavors. Our current volunteers often speak of the wonderful feeling of sharing warmth and love and life itself with out patients. They feel it is a rewarding experience."

Anyone who would like to participate in the patient activities program should call Samuelson at the SNF, 355-7181, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Maclovio Perez at La Salle

Mr. Maclovio Perez of KCBS News will be the keynote speaker at La Salle High School's Associated Student Body (ASB) Convention on Apr. 29.

It is a tradition at La Salle that the Student Council holds a nominating convention much like our national parties' conventions, to decide the ballot for the officers of the next school year. Prior to the convention the student body elects delegates. They, in turn, nominate candidates for the different ASB offices, narrowing the ballot to two candidates per office. The purpose of this convention is to give the students a chance to witness and experience the democratic process by electing their own leaders for the coming school year.

Royal painter at Woodbury

The close relationship between art and the business world will be explored in a lecture by Richard Stone, royal portrait painter of Great Britain, on Tuesday, May 4 at 7 p.m. in the Woodbury University Auditorium. The event marks the first lecture in Woodbury's Community Lecture Series. Donation for admission is $5.

Stone achieved his rank as royal portrait painter at age 22, making him the youngest in two centuries to paint the Royal family. Since 1973, Stone has painted the Queen Mother three times; Princess Margaret twice; Princess Alice, Duchess of Gloucester twice; Princess Michael of Kent; the Princess Royal, formerly known as Princess Anne; the first lady Lord Mayor of London; portraits of all of Britain's living former Prime Ministers; and many British citizens and many prominent Americans, including some Southern Californians.

Stone received little formal training other than instruction from the renowned British portrait painter Sir Gerald Kelly, who had studied with Monet and painted with Renoir. Sir Gerald was instrumental in building Stone's determination to become a success.

The May 4 lecture will be held on the Woodbury campus, 7500 Glenoaks Boulevard, between Buena Vista Steet and Hollywood Way. Donation for tickets is $5, with students admitted free. For more information on attending the public lecture, contact the Woodbury University Marketing Office at (818) 767-0888.

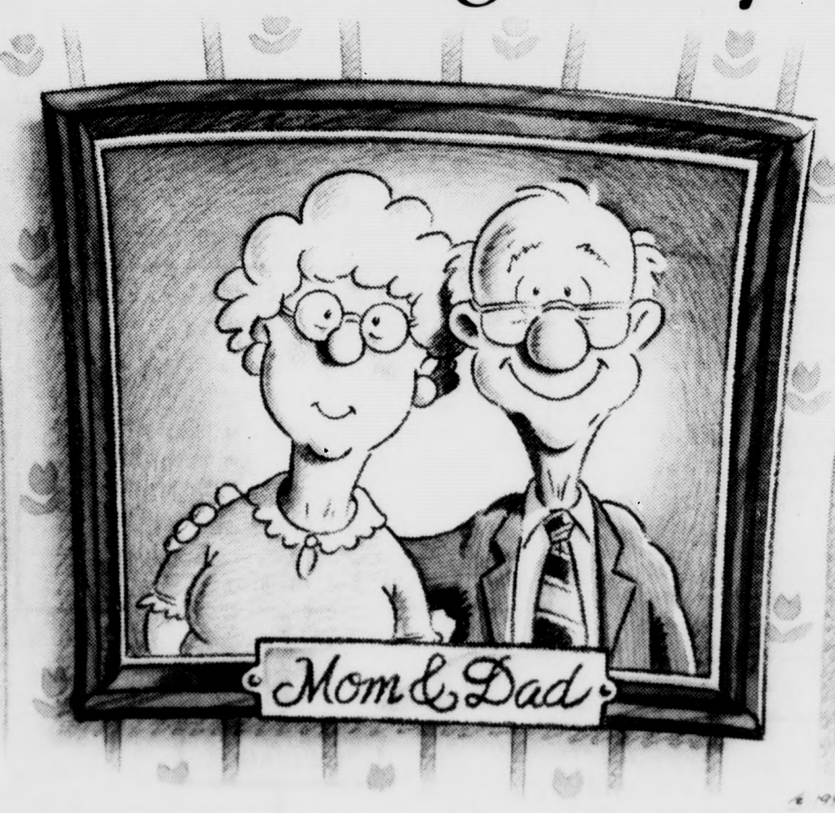
These are the only folks we know of lending money cheaper.



Imperial Savings' new adjustable rate mortgage (ARM) is as close as you can get to an interest-free loan from Mom and Dad.
In fact, when you choose our 90-day ARM, your start-up rate is one of the lowest available. Which makes payments more affordable. And may allow you to qualify for a larger loan amount.
Our adjustable rate mortgages also give us more ways to say yes. Because, along with the 90-day ARM, there's also a 6-month and 1-year ARM. To find out which loan will fit you best, talk to the mortgage loan specialist at your nearest Imperial Savings' branch.
6.75% 90-day ARM rate
And, you can feel secure about the stability of the institution you're dealing with, since we're the nation's 14th largest savings association, with assets in excess of $10 billion.
So talk to Imperial Savings today about our new adjustable rate mortgages.
You, and your parents, will be glad you did.

Council demands action of Wildan and Associates

At a study session last Thursday, Sierra Madre City Councilmembers decided to inform Wildan and Associates to produce or be replaced.

The consulting firm was hired by the city to design and structure a work plan for the parking lot that borders Mariposa on the south and the back area of at least a dozen businesses on the north in mid-town on Sierra Madre Blvd.

Mayor Pro Tem Bruce Crow shook his head when he said, "Let's give them a target date (of beginning work on the project) and I'd like to see them expand into Mrs. Lee's area (the eastern edge of the properties in question). At least talk with those people. I'd like to see some action between now and two weeks only if they (Wildan) want the job. I'd like to see some signed agreements (with property owners) and I'd like to see it on the agenda for the regular City Council meeting in two weeks." He added, "For $8000 we have one picture and two photos."

The last target date for beginning the project, according to Wildan and Associates, was early 1989. All councilpersons agreed that this date was unaccepetable and that the work should be started immediately with completion before the holiday season this year.

Mayor Clem Bartolai said, "The concern of the council is the time frame. What has not been done? How can the work be expedited? I see a tenative time schedule but no indication of dates when the work will be started."

Crow suggested that Ron Hutson, Main Street project coordinator, "be the go between and canvas all people in the area. He could take the first step of contacting the business and property owners. Let's get someone to do the work and get on with it."

Hutson said, "I'm accountable to the Main Street Steering Committee. If we (become involved in the Mariposa Parking Lot Project) it would take away from the Main Street Program. Right now we're intent on getting the nonprofit status and the IRS tax exempt status. We want the Main Street project to be positive, not doing anything to endanger the Main Street Program.

City Administrator Jim McRea added, "Then we need to tell Wildan that they are not doing a good job and to get busy and we need to ask Ron (Hutson) to help us out . . . We need to contact the property owners.

McRea outlined action by the council: in 1987 Wildan and Associates met with the council and in April of that year they presented a proposal for development of the parking lot. In September, 1987, the city called ownere's meeting with Wildan. In late November Wildan and Associates brought conceptual drawings of the parking lot and at the March, 1988, meeting only one property owner showed up for the meeting.

Butlers celebrate 50 years

Alta and Jack Butler

"Keep your eyes open before marriage and closed afterwards," quips Jack Butler, in explaining how he and Alta reached their golden wedding anniversary on Apr. 1. Alta laughs merrily, so Jack keeps up the banter. "You either break under the strain," he says, "or become a philosopher."

No one laughed 55 years ago when Jack, 29, began dating Alta, 17. They met on a "blind date" at the Sierra Madre tennis courts. They listened to big band music at Jack's mother's place.

After five years, they decided to marry, but Alta's parents opposed the idea. The two had no money and were 12 years apart in age.

Both admit that as a couple they lacked promise. They came from diverse social and economic backgrounds. There were striking differences in personality, too.

"They talk about the 10 things you need for a successful marriage," muses Alta, "we didn't have one of them." But they eloped on a noon hour, on April Fool's Day, which was also Jack's birthday.

Now after 50 years together, five children and 10 grandchildren, their anniversary is no April Fool's joke, but cause for gratitude. Their entire, extended family is alive and in good health. "We have such a feeling of wonderment, of being especially blessed," Alta says. "Our success has been a gift, not something we've earned."

If it has been a "gift," it has taken hard work. In the Depression, Jack applied for work at the Sierra Madre Post Office. On his Civil Service exam, he recalls the question, "How far is it from Los Angeles to New York?" His answer: "If that's my route, I don't want the job."

But after 35 years as a postman with a route of 15 miles per day, he had trudged the equivalent of five times around the world. After "retirement," he sold real estate in town and then in San Marino. For most of the marriage, Alta worked and still does as a medical secretary and medical transcriber.

They invested much of their income in the private education of their children. All five of them finished college, and three hold graduate degrees. Their three sons and two daughters include a businessman, an orthodonist, a professor, a teacher, and a physical therapist.

"Our jewels are the kids," the couple says. After 25 years of marriage, Alta's ring had worn out. Jack ordered a new one for her, embedded with a jewel for each of the children's birthdays.

They credit much of their success as a couple to the lovely community in which they have lived most of their lives. They both arrived in Sierra Madre in 1921. Since their marriage, they have lived mostly on Sierra Madre Blvd. where they now reside. "We've wanted to give something back to the community we love," says Alta.

And they certainly have. Over the years, Jack has done volunteer work for the Boy Scouts, the Little League and Babe Ruth League, the Library, and the Historical Society. Alta has served in the Civic Club, the Garden Club, and the Hospital Auxiliary. Both have been active in church work.

But they have taken time for travel. Five years ago they went to Europe. And one week after their 50th anniversary, they left to spend six weeks apart. Jack is seeing family in Seattle, while Alta is in Africa to visit their daughter and her family at a mission school in Malawi.

Both are grateful for the chance to be with loved ones, but Jack notes the irony of separate vacations so soon after their golden annivarsary. "Well," he jest, "there was the fella who wouldn't leave his wife because he hated to kiss her goodbye."

Humor are gratitude. Not a bad combination for a marriage of 50 years, and counting.

Commission tentatively approves

proval was given to a side yard variance for Stanley and Ana Ptasinski of 160 Holdman Ave. and a continuance was ordered on the matter of a free-standing sign for Nance Kelly.

The commission granted Gem Plumbing of 140 East Montecito Ave. a one-year conditional approval of a free - standing sign on city property in city parkway. Approval was granted on a 5 - 1 vote after debate on the possibilites of setting an undesirable precedent.

The meeting moved on to a discussion of criteria necessary for potential commission members in response to a request from City Councilman Bruce Crow.

In the last item of business, three development standards, Sections 9252(C)(1), 9454(3), and 9501(A) were amended and scheduled for public hearing at the commissions's next session.

The commissioners then set a May 5 date for a discussion of ordinances pertaining to hillside development and adjourned. The next full session of the commission will be May 19.

Baby shower hosted by Tawney Little

Tawny Little, mother of twins and newscaster for KABC News, will host "The World's Biggest Baby Shower," sponsored by the American Lung Association of Los Angeles County. The baby shower will take place on May 13, at 11:30 a.m. in Hollywood.

"This is a very special baby shower for over 100 mothers-to-be who have recently quit smoking or are attempting to quit for the health of their baby," said Spencer K. Koerner, M.D., president of the American Lung Association of Los Angeles County.

For reservations to attend the "World's Biggest Baby Shower, call 935-LUNG, ext. "B".

Menard to speak at Homeowners/Residents

Owen Menard will speak at the Homeowners' / Residents' Association meeting Thursday, Apr. 28 at 7:30 p.m. at the Senior Citizens Center.

Menard was hired by the City Council in 1971 to advise and help develop a General Plan for the city as mandated by the state. Ralph Rule was mayor at that time and committees of local citizens organized included those for downtown, the boulevard, canyon, freeway impact and land use.

Menard will compare how many of the goals he outlined have been accomplished from the General Plan which was finalized in 1973.

Bethany

By Al Elby

In last week's article I attempted to sum up Clyde's message on the Seven Deadly Sins or as he chose to call them the "Seven Deadly Attitudes." There was so much to relate that I couldn't do it in one resume, so I'll try to carry the same ball further.

You'll remember that Clyde likened these attitudes to razor blades that cut deeply. The razor blade of deceit is a knife that cuts not only others but is self-destructive. If you lie and are deceitful you know this far better than anyone else and as a result you project this quality on to others. Because of your fraudulence you will never be able to trust anyone in any kind of relationship whatsoever. This becomes a burden that is almost impossible to handle and it deprives one of any kind of a meaningful relation. The reality of it all is that when we are deceitful to others we are most deceitful to ourselves. We lie loudest when we lie to ourselves. The razor blade of deceit cuts deep. Drop that blade in the nearest trash can.

Hands that shed innocent blood; for example, jumping to conclusions, gossiping, character assassination, spreading malicious rumors, a willingness to verbally attack people — all these will shed innocent blood. Not only will this kind of behavior annihilate friendships but will also slit your own wrists. It is self-destructive. Throw that razor blade in the same trash can.

If you've cut yourself and are bleeding we operate a Red Cross Station at Bethany. Visit us this Sunday because we have plenty of bandages but more importantly, the attending physician is Jesus Christ, the best doctor in the whole wide world.

Methodist

At the Sierra Madre United Methodist Church, this Sunday, the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be celebrated at the 9:30 a.m. worship service. The Communion Meditation, "Taste and See," will be given by the Rev. H. Elwood Wissmann, pastor of the church. Nursery and child care are provided during the worship hour. Church School classes for children through grade six are also held at 9:30 each Sunday.

The Adult Study Group meets at 10:45 on Sunday morning. This week, one of the "Catch the Spirit" programs will be viewed on videotape. This is a nationally-telecast program produced by the United Methodist Church and viewed weekly in many areas.

An all-church Work Day will be held this Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon. Members and friends of the church are encouraged to be present. The Board of Trustees will hold their monthly meeting this Tuesday, 7:30 p.m., in the Lounge. The Women's Prayer and Support Group will meet this Monday, 7:30 p.m. at the home of Martha Owen. The afternoon Prayer and Support Group meets on Thursdays, 2:30 p.m., in the Church Lounge. The Aldersgate Choir rehearses on Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

Lutheran

The sermon theme for next Sunday at Gloria Dei Lutheran Church at 186 W. Highland in Sierra Madre is: "Confession Embraces Two Parts." It is based on Daniel 9:15-18. Sunday School follows. Due to church renovation, services will be in the basement of the church. Wednesday Bible Class is at 7:30 p.m. We invite you to study the Bible with us.

Regarding women in the public preaching ministry the Bible says: "I suffer not a woman to teach, nor to usurp authority over the man, but to be in silence. For Adam was first formed, then Eve." I Timothy 2:12-13.

Congregational

"Glory to Man in the Highest — A Tower of Confusion" is the title of Pastor Richard J. Anderson's sermon on Sunday morning, May 1 at all three services, 8:15, 9:45 and 11:15, in the Sanctuary. Genesis 11 will be his scriptural reference.

Noah's descendents spoke one language. Following the flood they migrated southeastward from the mountains of Ararat in Armenia toward the fertile crescent between the Tigris and Euphrates rivers. Here these two mighty rivers formed a rich alluvial plain called Shinar, or Babylonia.

Unity is strength. Unity of purpose only strengthens that purpose whether it be good or evil. God stepped in and confused the evil purposes of man's pride by confusing the language of men. Evil is powerful, but God knows how to overrule evil purposes and keep them in check. The tower of Babel was to have been a monument to man's pride. Instead it is a reminder of God's sovereign power to mitigate evil.

At the 6 p.m. service Pastor Anderson's message will be "Spiritual Warfare — Part II." Jesus won our victory over the forces of evil, not on the cross but in the Garden of Gethsemene. The Jesus lived out His victory in triumph as He died on the cross and paid the debt of our sin. The essence of His victory was in submitting His will to His Father's will.

Maranatha wins two

Maranatha High School's baseball team scored a pair of victories in Alpha League action last week.

John Kitterman got a fifth inning grand slam to lead the Minutemen in Tuesday's 14 - 5 win over Marshal Fundamental. Jeff Kliewer went 5 for 5 at the plate, getting three RBIs in the win.

Kliewer got a triple and Mrac Wilson a double in Friday's 4 - 1 win over Los Angeles Baptist.

The Minutemen gave up a lone run in the first inning, scored a pair in the first to gain the lead which they never gave up. They scored one each in the third and fourth innings to insure the victory as the Minutemen improved their overall mark to 12 - 5 with a 4 - 1 league record.

This week's games found Maranatha hosting Village Christian on Tuesday, Apr. 26 and traveling to Western Christian on Friday, Apr. 29 for a 3:15 p.m. contest.

Children's horse show

The 67th Annual Children's Horse show Apr. 29, 30 and May 1, is scheduled at the Flintridge Riding Club, 4625 Oak Grove Drive, La Canada-Flintridge. The three-day event is sponsored by the Flintridge-La Canada Guild of Huntington Memorial Hospital.

AND THE RACE BEGINS — St. Rita Men's Club hosted the one-mile and 5-K races Sunday morning as part of the St. Rita Fiesta which was held Saturday and Sunday. Shown here are runners as they pulled away into the melee, trying to beat everyone else to the finish line.

Apache volleyball scores victory

Two Pacific League victories were recorded by Arcadia High School's varsity volleyball squad in action last week.

On Wednesday, Arcadia took the first two games by scores fo 15 - 4 and 15 - 12 before scoring a come - from - behind 18 - 16 win over Brentwood.

The Apaches allowed just 11 points as they defeated South Pasadena in three straight games, 15 - 5, 15 - 1 and 15 - 5, on Friday.

Scott Olmsted led Arcadia with eight kills followed by Jim Gekas and Jim Marshall with five apiece.

Arcadia faced Hoover on Wednesday, Apr. 27 with results not available at press time. The Apaches host San Marino on Friday, Apr. 29, with junior varsity action starting at 6 p.m.

RACING WINNERS — Winners in the 5-K run, sponsored by St. Rita School Sunday morning, are Bryon Hake, 14 years, with the time of 19:15; Stephen Hake, 40, Bryon's father, with a time of 19.58; and Stephen Vass, 40, 21:16. Next in the photo is Clay Schubert, one of those in charge. Winners in the one-mile run were Chris McCoy, 12, 6:08; Frank Olivares, 38, 6:15; and Sean Crawford, 17, 6:22. Pat Dolphin as one of those in charge is also shown. This was the second annual run.

DOLPHIN WAVES IN WINNER — Pat Dolphin (right) waves in Chris McCoy, 12, who won the one-mile run with a time of 6:08. The run was held Sunday morning as part of the second annual St. Rita Men's 5-K and one-mile run. The Family Fiesta was held both Saturday and Sunday that weekend.

Elly-Charlotte van Dijk, artistic director of the Pasadena Civic Ballet, Inc., has announced that auditions for the pre-professional ballet company will be held on Friday, May 13 and Saturday, May 14.

Dancers will audition for one of the company's three divisions. Those auditioning for the teen and senior divisions must be at the advanced level and on pointe. Those auditioning for the junior division must be at least 10 years old, with two years of ballet at the intermediate level.

The Pasadena Civic Ballet, a nonprofit organization, provides a unique opportunity for the young, serious dancer to study and perform at the highest level.

For more information and scheduled times for auditions, contact the Civic Ballet Center, home of the Pasadena Civic Ballet, at (818) 792-0873.

Linda Ronstadt

Linda Ronstadt, Poncho Sanchez, Mariachi Los Camperos, Daniel Valdez, Tito Puente, Uclatino and Lalo Guerrero will perform at a special "Noche Mexicano" benefit concert May 6 in Royce Hall on the UCLA Campus, reports Steve Loza, professor of music.

The evening will begin at 6 p.m. with hors d'oeuvres and cocktails, the concert at 8 p.m.; dinner and entertainment at 10 p.m.

Ricardo Montalban is honorary chairman of the event which will feature special surprise celebrity master of ceremonies.

Neil Simon, best known for his apparently endless stream of successful Broadway plays, has used his own experience as material as all playwrights do, but the closest he has come to autobiography is in the trilogy of "Brighton Beach Memoirs," "Biloxi Blues" and "Broadway Bound." "Biloxi Blues" is currently a movie, with Matthew Broderick, who first played Eugene Jerome, Simon's alter ego, on Broadway, in the part again. "Broadway Bound" has recently opened at the Ahmanson and shows you what happens to the characters you meet in "Brighton Beach Memoirs" which has, happily, just opened at Sierra Madre's own Playhouse. Simon devotees can get the whole story — so far.

It's a pleasure to say that the Sierra Madre production has real professional polish. The complicated set has been admirably adapted by Eric White to the small stage, Bob Hakman's direction finds room for everything and the actors could hardly be better.

We see a lower-middle class Jewish family in the New York City suburb of Brighton Beach in 1937. It is Depression times; money is scarce. The father of the family has lost one of his two jobs to bankruptcy, the 18-year-old son is having to compromise his liberal ideas to keep working, and there is worry over relatives in Europe. Nevertheless, they have taken in the wife's helpless widowed sister and her two daughters.

Then there is 14-year-old Eugene, whose chief concerns are the scary delights of puberty and his diary of his family's doings.

There are arguments and hard decisions and rebellion, but the strong sense of family, the deep affection that transcends disagreements and leads to reconciliation, colors every event, and the wit and wisdom that emerge spread their warmth through the audience.

Kent-Moore plays the exhuberant Eugene, Shauna Bloom is the slightly older cousin whose development he watches with such enthusiasm, Sandra Knott is his long-suffring mother, realistic but coping, Tamra Witten is expecially good as his insecure aunt, coming to terms with her life. Jerry Morrison has some top notch scenes as his older brother, Tony Tumbrello draws a sympathetic picture of a man trying to be father to two families, and Jennifer Bowman is the spoiled younger cousin. The manipulation among these people draws delighted laughs of recognition throughout the show. Another good job, SMP!

"Brighton Beach Memoirs" plays Friday and Saturday evenings at 8 p.m. through May 28, with matinees on May 15 and 22 at 2:30. Call 355-4318 for reservations.

Methodist sponsors 'Spring Classic' May 15

Methodist Hospital has been invited to be one of the sponsors of the ninth annual Spring Classic scheduled May 15. The start and finish lines for the 10K, 5K-1K runs, which circle Arcadia Golf Course and Santa Anita Race Track, are located adjacent to the main gate to the race track.

One of the highlights of this year's classic will be the Hotfooter. This is a race geared to the younger set from five months through nine years. The event is being conducted by staff members from the hospital's Kathy Kredel Nursery School, Joan Cline-Annas, Carol Libby and Geraldine McGowan with special assistance of the hospital's Employee Activities Committee.

The Hotfooter activities which include a Kiddie Crawl, Toddle Along, Obstacle Course and a Time-Marathon are scheduled at 9:45 a.m. in a specially designated area adjacent to the race finish line. The Hotfooter will be the unique fun-filled climax to the morning's racing activities which begin at 7:30 a.m.

Registration forms are available at the Trophy Case, 16 N. First Ave., Arcadia or by calling the hospital's Community Relations office, (818) 574-3434 or Bob Jackson, race director, (818) 445-7507. Race day registration is permissible.

AYSO holds registration

The Arcadia (Region 2) American Youth Soccer Organization will hold its annual registration for the 1988 fall season at Arcadia City Hall Field, 240 W. Huntington Drive, Arcadia, on Saturday, Apr. 30, 1988, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Registration is open to all boys and girls ages 5-18 years old. AYSO is divided into age divisions with the child's age as of Dec. 31, 1988, determining his/her division.

The cost to register is $35 per player, $105 maximum per family. The fee is used to purchase a complete uniform (except shoes), balls, insurance, trophies, and other expenses.

New players must bring a birth certificate to register and go through a brief skills evaluation during the registration procedure.

AYSO is a non-profit corporation dedicated to youth soccer. Participation is the main objective of AYSO. The motto is "Everyone Plays," meaning that every child will play at least one - half of every game.

A second registration day is set for May 14, at the same time and location. However, registration is on a first come, first served basis, therefore, participants are urged to register early to avoid disappointment.

Questions concerning registration and the AYSO organization may be directed to AYSO at 446-3922.

Golf, tennis May 4

The Seventh Annual Invitational Golf and Tennis Tournament will be held on Wednesday, May 4 with golf at Marshall Canyon Golf Course in La Verne and tennis at the Claremont Racquet Club.

In addition to athletic competition, the traditional event includes lunch, cocktail party with hors d'oeuvres, steak dinner, prizes and the ever-popular auction, according to Chris McGuire, president of the Arcadia Boosters which sponsors the event to benefit the athletic programs at Arcadia High School.

Assisting with the tournament are Dottie Burnett, Wendy Haigh, Judy Hoyt, Wil Laun, Delores Nielsen, Larry Papay and Phil Scott.

Cost for golfers is $125; for tennis players, $85; and $75 for dinner and auction.

For information or reservations contact McGuire at 446-4437.

NOTICE OF DEATH OF MAXINE VIRGINIA JACKSON AND OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE
Case No. P725279

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors and contingent creditors of MAXINE VIRGINIA JACKSON and persons who may be otherwise interested in the will and/or estate:

A petition has been filed by James Spencer Jackson in the Superior Court of Los Angeles County requesting that James Spencer Jackson be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of MAXINE VIRGINIA JACKSON.

The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act with limited authority.

The petition is set for hearing in Dept. No. 5 at 111 N. Hill Street, Los Angeles, CA 90012 on May 10, 1988, at 9:15 A.M.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should either appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court or present it to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in Section 700 of the Probate Code of California. The time for filing claims will not expire prior to four months from the date of the hearing noticed above.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are interested in the estate, you may serve upon the executor or adminstrator, or upon the attorney for the executor or administrator, and file with the court with proof of service, a written request stating that you desire special notice of the filing of an inventory and appraisement of estate assets or of the petitions or accounts mentioned in Sections 1200 and 1200.5 of the California Probate Code.

Five honored at Founder's luncheon

Five individuals were honored at First Avenue Junior High School's annual Founder's Day luncheon held at the home of Dick and Gail Ramage. Honorees were teachers Joyce McGregor and Jerry Thomas as well as parent volunteers Liz Pearse, Ramage and Bev Turner.

Joyce McGregor

Currently as English teacher at First Avenue, McGregor graduated with a bachelor of arts degree in education from the Southern University of Birmingham in Alabama. She has been teaching in Arcadia since 1964 with positions at Highland Oaks and Holly before going to the junior in 1984.

McGregor previously received an Honorary Service Award from Baldwin Stocker Elementary. She works on the committee for adult education at the Church of the Good Shepherd, was a HOT board member, Cub Scout leader, the first editor of West Arcadia Little League's "Off the Bat" newsletter and was involved in the Pinto - Pony baseball league.

She and her husband Robert have three children: Rob, a corporate attorney; Carolyn, a registered nurse; and Richard, a photographer.

Jerry Thomas

The shop teacher at First Avenue, Thomas was born in Los Angeles and received his teaching credentials following his education at California State University at Long Beach.

His community activities have included Little League, school carnivals, youth sports at the YMCA, Indian Guides and Girl Scouts. He is currently active in his church missionary program and has spent time in Peru and England doing construction for the missions there.

Thomas has chaperoned several student groups as they visited Washington, D.C., Boston and Philadelphia. His most recent contribution was the 200 wooden toys his class created for the White Christmas project.

Liz Pearse

Also this year's Honorary Service Award recipient from Baldwin Stocker Elementary School, Pearse has been involved iwth the PTAs a the elementary, junior high and high school levles since coming to Arcadia in 1983.

Born in Portland, Victoria, Australia, Pearse is in this country on a visa for five years while her husband works for the Australia and New Zealand Bank in the United States. She and her family will be returning to their homeland this summer.

In addition to her PTA involvement, Pearse has played an active role on the board of directors for the West Arcadia Little League.

Gail Ramage

Ramage received a Continuing Service Award for her contributions to PTA at First Avenue where she has been a driver for the Adopt a Grandparent program, corresponding secretary and assembler for the newsette.

At the high school she has served on the telephone committee and was hospitality chairman. For West Arcadia Little League, she has been on the board as awards chairman.

Ramage, a registered nurse, and her husband Dick, have four children: Kristen, Ricky, Scott and Heidi.

Bev Turner

As First Avenue PTA President, Turner served on the HSA committee and was surprised when she was named as a recipient.

Born in Pennsylvania, Turner grew up in Ohio where she attended Bowling Green State University. She received her elementary education degree at Cal State Northridge.

Since arriveing in Arcadia seven years ago, she has served as president of the Arcadia Newcomers Club and has been involved with the PTA programs at Baldwin Stocker, First Avenue and Arcadia High. At the junior high she initiated a membership poster contest, Spartan Space in the newsette and helped get a marquee for the school.

Turner and her husband Doug have two sons; Chris attends PCC and Brent is a ninth grader at First Avenue.

Robbie Hall served as chairman of the Honorary Service Award committee which included Fran DiSalvo, Colleen Douglas, Jeanne Mead, Bobi Read, Turner and Principal Louis Pappas.

RECEIVE AWARDS — Receiving Honorary Service Awards or Continuing Service Awards from First Avenue were Bev Turner, Joyce McGregor, Gail Ramage, Liz Pearse and Jerry Thomas.

BALDWIN BONANZA — Even the rain did not stop these volunteers who are among some 200 people responsible for the Baldwin Bonanza. Pictured are Arcadians Charles Stein, Dennis Buchanan and Gloria Buchanan.

Baldwin Bonanza for Sunday

Baldwin Bonanza, the annual benefit plant sale at the Los Angeles State and County Arboretum will be held Sunday, May 1 from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Experienced shoppers have been known to arrive early if they want a choice of plants, according to event spokesman, Janet Nagle.

At a Preview Party sale the evening of Saturday, Apr. 30, California Arboretum Foundation members will have the first look

Kindergarten registration

A special Kindergarten Registration Day will be held on Wednesday, May 4 for children who plan to enter an Arcadia school for the first time in September of 1988. Registration will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Baldwin Stocker. Camino Grove, Highland Oaks, Holly Avenue, Hugo Reid and Longley Way Elementary Schools.

Children born on or before Dec. 2, 1983 are eligible for September enrollment.

State law requires that evidence of age must be verified at the time of registration by presenting any one of the following documents: a certificated copy of a birth record; a statement by the local registrar or county recorder certifying the date of birth; a baptismal certificate duly attested; a passport; or when none of the foregoing is obtainable, an affidavit of the parent, guardian or custodian of the minor.

State law also requires evidence of an up-to-date immunization record or signed statement requesting exemption for religious and health reasons.

Parents who are not able to register their kindergarten child on May 4 are encouraged to do some any day after that, but prior to June 30, at the elementary school in their attendance area.

Because of growing primary school enrollment in Arcadia, parents are urged to sign up early in order to obtain placement at their local school, according to Marilyn Daleo, information officer for the school district, who adds that where classes become over enrolled, new enrollees will be registered at other schools in the district.

Hayner 'Citizen-of-Month'

Michelle Hayner has been recognized as Arcadia Civitan Student-of-the-Month.

President of Kiowas, Arcadia High School's honorary service club, member of the Academic Decathalon Team as well as member of both the California Scholastic Federation and the National Honor Society are listed among Hayner's achievements at the high school.

Additionally, she was captain of the junior varsity cheerleading squad and serves on the Inter-Club Council. She received the Yale Book Award for outstanding achievement in English and was a California State finalist in the Miss Teen California-scholarship.

Hayner volunteers service for the Crippled Children Society, helps in the nursery at her church and is a graduate of Studio 7, Fashion Career College.

She hopes to major in biology/pre-med because she enjoys math, science and working with people.

ENJOY MIXER — Celeste McCreary and Horst Engel, co-owner with Margi Ferguson of VIP Travel Agency, were on hand to enjoy the Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce mixer last Thursday at A Touch of France in Sierra Madre. Although it was a rainy night, the resturant was crowded with chamber members and guests.

POPULAR MIXER IN SPITE OF RAIN — Others who waddled in out of the rain for the Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce Mixer last Thursday were Steve McCourt, Megan McKirahan who is headmistress of Gooden School, Mary Kay Gifford and Charles Corp, former mayor.

Famous clients come to Huntington Bath

Though he doesn't really brag about having Hollywood celebrities as customers, Gene Luna of Huntington Bath Concepts is not embarrassed to show off an autographed picture of Bruce Willis, co-star of TV's "Moonlighting," whom he counts as one of his better known clients.

Luna became general manager of the decorative plumbing boutique when he, his brother and father bought the 2301 Huntington Dr. location in San Marino almost one year ago.

Formerly a travel agency, the three men have transformed the showroom into a show place for the newest, the unique and the traditional in fixtures for bathroom and kitchen from American and European designers as well as marble, granite and tile from around the world.

Huntington Bath Concepts caters to the rich and famous as well as the cost-conscious customer from all over Southern California, according to Luna who points out that he displays a large selection of tubs and basins offered at competitive prices, and he has responsible contractors and tile men with whom he can arrange installation.

A sampling of his products and designs can be seen in this year's Pasadena Showcase House where Huntington Bath Concepts is responsible for two bathrooms and a wine room.

After he got out of the service, Luna reports that his mom said, "Go find a job." This command prompted him to respond to a newspaper ad to work in retail plumbing sales; thus his 18 year career in the business began.

Now he works with brother Anthony who is the former manager of a pharmaceutical company; and his father is retired from a job as foreman for a sheet metal shop.

NOTE SPECIAL BREAKFAST — Practicing pancake making are members of the Arcadia Board of Realtors: Ernie Boehr, Richard Kasten, Francesca Zummo and Barbara Kuhn.

Pancake breakfast

A Pancake Breakfast will culminate the Arcadia Board of Realtors' celebration of American Home Week on Saturday, Apr. 30 at the Arcadia Board of Realtors' office, 601 S. First Ave.

The public is invited at no charge to the 8-11 a.m. breakfast at which winners of the Pride in Property and Children's Poster Contests will be presented, according to Ernie Boehr, event chairman.

The nationwide American Home Week is designed to remind citizens of their Constitutional freedom to own property as well as the need to protect the rights that come with ownership, according to Francesca Zummo, Arcadia Board of Realtors president.

Questions concerning the breakfast can be directed to the Arcadia Board at 446-2115.

Development of Jameson estate under fire

The homes are between 3300 and 3700 square feet of living space only."

One neighbor was not pleased with the wall that was planned; another was concerned that the street was being reduced from 36 feet to 28 feet wide.

Richard Wheeler said, "Why don't you put a cul de sac at the top of the street and extend Laurel? . . . Trees can be moved but there is not a high degree of success. You dig one up and you're disturbing others nearby."

The Ralph Rittenhouses suggested the developers stake out homes "so we can see what trees will be moved."

Barbara Godley proposed "cluster zoning" which, she explained, is the practice of developing several houses in the area, leaving a lot of green belt around the cluster of homes.

Both Loren and Dr. Albert Metzger represented Sierra Madre Environmental Action Committee and indicated conceren about the entire project. Specifically, both were most concerned about the trees. The former said, "To remove mature oak trees, generally the success rate is low, especially if movement is done at the wrong time, during winter months." The latter noted that the hazards to trees not moved but close to excavation would also be a problem.

Robert Van Buskirk said, "Developers come here and they love trees . . . Then the bulldozer comes out and all are gone. The developers say, 'So sorry. The operator didn't understand.' Let's place money in escrow and if the trees are not there when the development is finished, the city keeps the money."

The architect, Tim Good, rebutted several of the arguments against the project and said, concerning the trees, "We share that concern. It's a plus to maintain them from the sales standpoint." Concerning the width of the street, "With all things considered here, the positives outweigh the negatives in the 28-foot street."

Both Wilford Barnard and Lee Cline reponded negatively concerning the Ordinance No. 1038, which deletes two sections which permit an additional dwelling unit within the R-1 and R-2 zone under special conditions.

Barnard, who owns a duplex and uses half of it for income, said, "If the ordinance is adopted, it will demoralize my emergency catastrophe plan of rebuilding my duplex. (The plan requests that additional dwelling uits by these sections would be reduced to a single unit. A single two-family dwelling with sidelines abutting R-3, R-P, C or M uses may not be used for two-family dwellings consisting of more than one lot or to be more than 90 feet in width. A three-family or four-family dwelling with sideline lots of "C" or "M"' should not be used for three- or four-family dwellings consisting of more than one lot or be more than 90 feet in width.)

Richard Wheeler said he believes the ordinance is too general and that it was developed for the wrong reasons. "Many of these second homes are substandard. The problem is that you are not opposed to the dwelling but to the types of second homes."

In any case, this hearing will also be continued to May 10. And Mayor Pro Tem Bruce Crow suggested the city engineer come up with some rules that are more consistent.

Crow also asked for "A priority study by the city yards to indicate where gas tax money can be used (in cleaning up some of the streets of Sierra Madre.) He said, "The pothole program was $8000 on Grandview and $10,000 on four other streets."

Mayor Clem Bartolai said, "The point is well taken. When I was discussing my goals with City Administrator McRea, I suggested a program on streets; however, funding is always a problem."

McRea briefly reviewed the amount of money available for the Grandview Ave. Improvement Project in which F.A.U. funding will be used. "We've spent about $450,000 out of over $700,000 and we now have available $315,900. They give it to you in three-year increments."

In conclusion on that project, Crow also said, "I suggest we have a priority plan by June in order to clear up other (street) problems."

Councilman George Maurer made the motion to reject the three bids received by the city to construct the concrete distribution structure for spreading basin #18 and authorize McRea to see that the work is done by day labor. McRea guessed that the city would spend about $20,000 if the project is completed internally, using subcontractors. Bids received were as high at $98,000.

Don Murphy, an architect in Sierra Madre, and Don Grossman, co-owner of Best Buy Drugs in Sierra Madre, are new members of the Main Street Steering Committee. The committee has also developed and approved a management contract and a memorandum of understanding which the Community Redevelopment Agency approved Tuesday. The committee is also taking initial steps to create a California nonprofit (IRS tax exempt) corporation.

Imperial's ARMS offer flexibility

If you could create the ideal home mortgage loan for San Gabriel Valley residents, what would it look like?

Imperial Savings has answered that question with adjustable rate mortgages (ARMs). In addition to some of the lowest starting rates in the state, Imperial's new ARMs offer the flexibility of three-month, six-month or one-year rate adjustment options and high loan balances of up to $750,000.

"Unlike many lenders who include future rate increases in qualification guidelines, we qualify borrowers based on the lowest starting rate," said Dori Osterman, manager of the Sierra Madre branch of Imperial Savings. "This can mean not only lower monthly payments but a larger loan amount. With the high cost of San Gabriel Valley homes, this is a particularly attractive feature."

The low start rate ARMs are indexed to the three-month and six-month treasury bill yield and the one-year treasury security yield. Because short-term investments tend to have lower interest rates, borrowers using the three-month or six-month options will be able to take advantage of lower initial rates than with one-year ARMs.

Interest rate changes are limited to one-half percent for the three-month ARM and 1 percent for the six-month ARM at each adjustment period. For borrowers, more frequent rate adjsutments will mean less "payment shock" if interested rates rise and a more gradual impact on the borrowers' monthly cash flow.

All three rate adjustment options have 6 percent life-of-loan caps. Points vary depending upon the loan rate and adjustment option selected. Loans are assumable for qualified borrowers.

"The flexibility of this loan program means borrowers can choose a mortgage tailored to their specific needs," said Osterman. "Borrowers will also be able to lock in their rate for up to 60 days after the completed application is received to safeguard against fluctuations in interest rates."

Imperial will offer 90 percent financing for loans up to $250,000; 80 percent for loans up to $350,000; 75 percent for loans up to $500,000; and 70 percent for loans up to $750,000. The low start rate ARMs can be used for first and second homes, condos and planned unit developments. Minimum loan amount is $50,000.

"In addition to allowing borrowers to qualify for a larger loan, these loans are assumable, unlike fixed rate loans," added Osterman. "They can potentially increase the marketability of a home."

These low rate adjustable mortgages are the first of several new loan products Imperial will introduce this year through its 88 full-service branches throughout California.

"We plan to be very competitive with other mortgage lenders in our area, while offering customers the convenience of dealing with local loan officers who can immediately quote rates on a variety of loan products," Osterman concluded.

Imperial Savings is the nation's 14th largest savings association and the largest subsidiary of Imperial Corporation of America, a diversified financial services company with $10.9 billion in assets. Imperial stock (NYSE: ICA) is traded on the New York, Pacific and Midwest stock exchanges.

Single family sales decline

A drop in consumer confidence during the latter part of 1987 was behind a second straight month of declining sales of existing single-family homes, according to the California Association of REALTORS (C.A.R.)

Sales of detached homes declined 2.7 percent from an annual rate of 483,518 units in January to an annual rate of 470,389 units in February, the Association said. The figure represents the number of homes that would have sold for the year if each month's sales equaled the February rate and is adjusted to account for the seasonality of home sales.

Home sales for the month were down .1 percent compared with February 1987, when 470,857 homes closed escrow on a seasonally adjusted, annualized basis.

C.A.R. President Dale Colby said February's decline resulted from circumstances that were similar to those present in January, when statewide sales fell 9.1 percent from the previous month.

"The majority of sales which closed during February were initiated during December, when consumer confidence was flagging because of talk of a recession in 1988," said Colby. "Additionally, potential buyers at that time were seeing very narrow fluctuations in mortgage interest rates. When interest rates are relatively flat, sales tend to follow suit."

Statewide, the median price of an existing home rose .3 percent from $147,281 in January to $147,665 in February. February's median price was 14.1 percent higher than the February 1987 median price of $129,376.

Housing inventory remained limited in many areas, although there was a slight improvement during February, C.A.R. reported. The Association's Unsold Inventory Index, which measures the time it would take for all listed homes to sell at the current rate of sales, moved from 7.2 months in January to 8.2 months in February. A year ago, there was a nine month supply of existing homes for sale.

The continued shortage of homes on the market and high median price of detached homes may have boosted the condominium market during February, according to C.A.R. Chief Economist Joel Singer.

Sales of existing condominiums and townhomes improved by 3.2 percent from January on a non-seasonally adjusted basis and were up 21.5 percent from a year ago. The median price of a condominium increased 4.3 percent in February to $118,880, up from $113,835 in January. February's median price was 7 percent higher that a year ago, when it was $111,081.

"There's little question that the high median price of a detached home in many of the urban areas of California is having a positive effect on condo sales," said Singer. "Although the median condo price is moving up, it remains well within the range of large numbers of the state's first-time homebuyers."

The Unsold Inventory Index for condominiums was virtually unchanged at 12.2 months in February, well below the 15.9 month supply of condominiums for sale in February 1987.

Sales activity in the Sacramento area during February rose 11.6 percent from January, 17.6 percent higher than the same period in 1987. The median price of a home, meanwhile, declined by .8 percent, dropping from $87,812 in January to $87,142 in February. That price was 3.9 percent above last February's median price of $83,877.

Both monthly sales and the median price fell during February in the San Francisco Bay region. Sales dropped 7.9 percent from January, while the median price of a home declined .3 percent, falling from $176,055 in January to $175,454 in February. (Sales and price figures from February 1987 were incomplete, so a year-over-year comparison was not possible.)

Sales of homes in the Los Angeles region improved .8 percent in February but were .4 percent behind last February's level. The median price of a home fell 1.6 percent from $159,190 in January to $156,653 in February. February's median price was a strong 16.2 percent above the $134,821 median price of a year ago.

requests to republish the editorial I wrote following her death. Maybe next week would be a good time to do that in remembrance of a wonderful friend who has died.

● We received a harried plea from the San Bernardino sheriff's office for a double, yellow-headed Amazon parrot that was taken from a Rose Ave. home in Fontana in a burglary Apr. 7. The bird, named Herman, is about 15 years old and has been part of a family for over 10 years.

One characteristic of this breed of bird is that they will be friends to one person at a time. To the rest of the world they can be mean, using their powerful beaks as a weapon.

Herman's favorite words are "Hello, Herman" and "Lolita."

He has a complete yellow head and his body is green with red showing on the front of the wings.

Anyone who might have seen this beautiful family bird should call (714) 829-3728.

● We had an interesting experience on our trip to Hawaii a week ago. With the new federal law banning cigarette smoking aboard domestic airline flights of two hours of less (which went into effect Apr. 22), we wondered if the ban would affect a five-hour, overseas flight to Hawaii. Indirectly, it did.

Twice during the flight, smoking, even in the smoking section, was banned because, the captain told us, the air quality in the plane had deteriorated. And that's a place where you can't open the window.

I noticed a perceptible difference in the air quality during that flight — much better than on other flights of that duration.

Being an avid nonsmoker I appreciated the captain's efforts.

The lavatories are now equipped with smoke detectors so smokers may not go in for a quick puff without setting off a smoke alarm and an automatic fire extinguisher will eliminate the chance for fire.

This new law affects about 80 percent of all passenger flights nationally and about 41.5 percent of flights leaving Los Angeles International Airport.

The ban is scheduled to be in force for two years with violators subject to a $2000 fine.

'Fan-Tastic Fashions'

By Phillis Chapman

A fashion show, titled "Fan-Tastic Fashions," sets the theme of fans for Sierra Madre Woman's Club annual fund-raising luncheon on Saturday, May 7, at Essick House, their historic clubhouse, 550 W. Sierra Madre Blvd.

Festivities begin at 11:30 a.m. with a social hour and President Lucile Flanders greeting those who attend. This will be followed by a gourmet luncheon served at noon. Ticket donation is $12 and the club invites you to attend.

Table centerpieces of fans and flowers to carry out the luncheon theme have been made by Kay Fox and her committee. Club Graphic Artist Mary Buchan has designed fan-decorated programs for the event. Throughout the clubhouse there will be a display of Oriental art highlighted by a collection of fans belonging to members Phyllis Harris and Ruth Teigler.

Following luncheon a fashion show presented by Mr. Albert's of Santa Anita Fashion Park is aimed to peak the fashion fantasies of those present. Ruth Sermeno, fashion coordinator for the shop, will commentate. Clothes in a range of sizes will be presented in four segments — daytime, career, active and evening wear and accented with perfect accessories. Among the models are four members of the club — Beulah Bird, Ruth Kirkby, Phyllis Harris and Mildred Turner.

Sermeno is a 1983 graduate of Maranatha High School here in Sierra Madre and has been in the fashion field in both Hawaii and Los Angeles before being associated with Mr. Albert's. She will discuss the impact of the new shapes in fashion and will also share clothes hints and fashion ideas. Later a number of prizes will be awarded to add to the fun.

Proceeds from this event will help support the club's broad range of philanthropies with the largest share going to Sierra Madre organizations. For tickets or further information please call 355-5057 or 355-6473.

Obituaries

Francis W. Thayer

Memorial services were held Wednesday morning for Francis W. Thayer, Sierra Madre, who died Sunday, Apr. 24 at his home. Services were at the Thayer home. Mr. Thayer suffered a stroke six months ago.

The deceased was born Oct. 12, 1904 in Cleveland, Ohio, and came to Sierra Madre in 1957. As a young child he had traveled with his mother to Sierra Madre to visit his uncle, John Hart, and during his early life he developed a special attachment to the town.

Mr. Thayer attended the University of Wisconsin where he was affiliated with Delta Kappa Epsilon. He was in the foundry business in Rockford, Ill. before moving to the west coast where he was in real estate development.

He is survived by his wife, Ethel; a son, Thomas of Rockford, Ill.; a daughter, Julie Askeland of Tiburon, Calif. Three grandchildren, Adrian, Mark and Elizabeth Askeland, and one great-granddaughter, Nicole Askeland, also survive.

Interment was at Sierra Madre Pioneer Cemetery.

William F. Ebersole

Services and interment were held Apr. 18 for William F. Ebersole who died Apr. 14. The location of interment was Rose Hills Memorial Park with Rev. David Robison officiating.

Mr. Ebersole was born July 10, 1907 in Niagara Falls, N.Y. He moved to California in 1943 with his wife and two sons. They spent 36 years in Alhambra and moved to Sierra Madre seven years ago.

Survivors include Mrs. Ebersole, Genevieve (they had been married 62 years); a son, Donald W. Ebersole of Sierra Madre, and a son, Gary F. Ebersole, of Berry Creek. Also surviving are eight grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

'Be Kind to Animals Week'

You don't have to be a pet owner to celebrate "Be Kind to Animals Week," May 1-7.

In fact, the Los Angeles County Department of Animal Care and Control thinks it's the perfect time for the "petless minority" to consider joining the ranks of the thousands of happy pet owners who live in L.A. County.

"It's a well-known fact that pets bring joy and contentment into the lives of children, the elderly, the ill, and most everybody else," said Brian Berger, Department Director. "If a pair of moist brown eyes and a wagging tail are missing from your life, you might consider paying us a visit."

The six L.A. County Animal Shelters have hundreds of dogs, cats, puppies and kittens currently waiting for good homes. But although Berger encourages pet ownership, he adds that there are serious responsibilities that go along with the territory, and which need to be discussed by all family members before making a trip to the local County animal shelter.

For more information please call your local L.A. County animal shelter.

the period with many Victorians to their credit, including the fabulous Carson Mansion in Eureka, CA. The Pinney House and the San Dimas Mansion (now a restaurant) are the only two hotels they designed still standing.

John Shuler, 19th century glass specialist, will also be at the meeting to share artifacts he has recovered as a result of his dig in the backyard at the Pinney House.

The public is welcome to attend the meeting. In the next issue of The News, Editor Jan Reed will feature an article about the restoration work being done by Weckerly who is being assisted by local builder Ron Biegelow.

PERFECT FINISHING NOW YOURS WITH PANTORIUM'S CLEANING PROCESS

Old fashioned methods of dry cleaning and pressing often added new wrinkles to the ones you brought in.

Not any more.

The process we use assures you of nearly perfect finishing.

No more extra wrinkling to get out because of added creasing and folding during the cleaning procedure!

NOW, added to the loving care our finishing department has always given your clothes, you get the additional benefit that they arrive ready for pressing, neater to start with!

Less unnecessary "double pressing" to get out extra wrinkles!

Less unnecessary "extra heat" to get out the extra wrinkles!

Less unnecessary "extra pressure" to get out the extra wrinkles!

Why content yourself with old-fashioned drycleaning methods when you can give your clothes more perfect care — more thorough cleaning, PLUS better finishing when done the Pantorium's way.

Why don't you try this exclusive method now? It costs no more, saves your clothes, looks better, feels better, and it's cleaner besides!

Camino Grove entertains at Western Roundup

A Western Roundup has been planned for Camino Grove Elementary School's annual carnival to be held on Friday, May 6 from 3:30 to 8:30 p.m. at the school, 700 Camino Grove Ave., Arcadia.

Each class will decorate a booth which will be staffed by parents from that class, according to Cindy Jones, PTA spokesperson, who adds that traditional favorites, such as the Hoopla game, cake walk and western face painting, will be offered.

Carnival chairman Debbie Humpert is being assisted by Vicky Levi, art chairman; Gracie Aronson, food; Linda Alsbury and Bev Tyman, games; Debi Young and Barbara Stowe, prizes; Cindy Cutler, cake booth; and Steve Dick, Dad's Patrol.

CARNIVAL AT CAMINO GROVE — Linda Allsbury, left, has dressed her children, three year old Andrew and fifth grader Andrea, in western attire to set the mood for Camino Grove's carnival.

SCHOOL BELLES — School Belles working on blankets for Assistance League of Arcadia's Infant Car Seat Loan Project are Sylvia Aturaliye, Helen Whitehead and Eleanor Hewitt.

School Belles work for children

School Belles is a group of senior citizens who meet weekly to sew and mend clothes for needy children clothed by Operation School Bell, a major philanthropic project of Assistance League of Arcadia.

Recently they have accepted a new challenge and are making blankets especially designed to fit the size and straps of the infant car seats loaned by ALA in its START project at Methodist Hospital in Arcadia.

START, an acronym for Safe Tots Are Ready Travelers, makes available Century 570 Infant car seats designed for the safety of babies from birth to 20 pounds. Parents, grandparents and other residents of Arcadia and surrounding communities are invited to borrow a seat for a refundable $25 deposit, according to Jo Ann Scott, ALA president.

When Assistant League members realized the need for blankets with special slots for the car seat straps, the senior seamstresses were asked for their special assistance.

Kathy Hedlund, ALA coordinator for the School Belles, stated, "The contributions of these senior citizens to ALA projects is invaluable."

This group of ladies, several of whom are in their 80s, come from diverse backgrounds.

A native of England, Helen Whitehead, 88 years of age, is the senior member of the group. She has been sewing for volunteer organizations for 21 years.

Eleanor Hewitt moved to Arcadia with her family from Wisconsin in 1950. A lifetime sewing enthusiast, Hewitt makes all her own clothes and still finds time to attend a sewing class in Rosemead.

Slyvia Aturaliye joined the School Belles after reading an article about the group in a local newspaper. Born in Clumbo, Sri Lanka, she now lives in Arcadia with her daughter and states that she thoroughly enjoys the companionship and sewing that the School Belles offer.

Having immigrated from Norway in 1924, May Lisberg met her future husband on the voyage to New York. Since moving to Arcadia in 1964, she has been active with School Belles and the Red Cross.

The newest member of the group, Elizabeth Von Werner, fled her native Hungary during World War II, arriving in the United States in 1964. Now enjoying her retirement after 28 years of teaching, she is finding time to help with this new ALA project.

Senior citizens who are interested in sewing with the group are encouraged to call the Bargain Box, ALA's thrift shop, Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at 445-2861.

For more information regarding the car seat loan project call the START office, 574-3677.

Chanteurs featured in Carousel

Arcadia High School's Chanteurs, winner of two major show choir competitions this year, will be featured in the Choral Carousel to be held Wednesday, May 4, 7:30 p.m. at Wilson Junior High School, 300 Madre, Pasadena.

The Chanteurs will be singing their contest tunes, "Jeepers Creepers," "Lullaby of Broadway," "A House Is Not a Home" and "Real Good Time Tonight."

The New Spirit singers will perform "It's My Party" and "Diamonds Are a Girls Best Friend" among other tunes.

Other participants in the program are the A Cappella Choir, a barbershop and beauty-shop quartet and this year's outstanding senior soloists, Amy Chenault and Darin Vercillo.

Tickets, which are available at the door the night of the performance, are $3 for adults and $1 for students and senior citizens.

Students 'strike' for Arcadia teachers

A spokesperson for Arcadia High School students explained that about 1000 students stayed out of school Tuesday morning "in protest for the teachers" who, they feel, have not had proper salary increases.

Most of the students sat on the library lawn, beginning at 8 a.m. Some left at noon and others stayed out of school the entire day.

"Members of the administration told us to go to class, but we decided not to," the spokesperson said. "We hear it's possible that the teachers will go on strike and we feel the administration is not listening to the fact finder about the pay raises."

The News called the administration office three times Tuesday afternoon for clarification, but no one returned the phone calls.

Inter-Service Club luncheon

In recognition of Public Schools Week, the Arcadia High Twelve Club in conjunction with the Arcadia Masonic Lodge and the Arcadia Unified School District, presented an Inter-Service Club Luncheon last Thursday at the Arcadia Masonic Temple.

Those service clubs represented included Altrusa, Civitans, Kiwanis, Lions, Rotary, Soroptimist, High Twelve and the Masonic Lodge.

Jerry Barshay, Arcadia High principal, introduced the National Merit Finalists and Commended Students. Finalists included Christine Becker, Michael Coke, Nisha Desai, Bryan Geon, Philip Lo, Kevin Oliver and Julie Packard. Peggy Lee, also a finalists, is now attending Simon's Rock of Bard College.

Commended students recognized for high achievement were Sam Choi, Susan Collings, Douglas DeVoe, William Doutherty, George Geis, Peter Huang, Jennifer Kaiser, Bobby Lee, Sayan Ray, Sylvia Star, Jo Suggs and Nancy Tseng.

The program also included a performance by the 12-member Elementary String Ensemble and the flute class from Holly Avenue School.

PTA holds installation

Arcadia Council PTA will hold its installation luncheon on Tuesday, May 3, 10:30 a.m. at the Velvet Turtle Restaurant in Arcadia.

Coordinating the event are Muriel Call and Jean Wightman, decorations; Marilyn Daleo, programs and name tags; Stephen Goldstone, installations; Judy Jalalat, program; Alexis Porter, historian; and Linda Stephenson, invitations.

Others assisting are Lois Lewis, Adele Skibba, Kathy Valentine and Council President Joann Steinmeier.

Reservations for the event may be made by contacting Stephenson at 446-2520.

ARCADIA BUS DRIVERS — Arcadia school bus drivers include (front row) Mona Howell, Carolyn Searfoss, Julie Blankership, Kathy Holst, Cheri Phillips, Elvia Corona and Luanne Cayer; (back row) Thorma Hunter, Riduan Dunia, Grace Larsen and Debbie Perra.

Arcadia bus drivers honored on 'special day'

Arcadia Unified School District's 11 bus drivers were scheduled on School Bus Driver Day, last Tuesday, Apr. 26.

Luanne Cayer, who serves as assistant director of maintenance/ operation / transportation has been with the district for 21 years and is in charge of the transportation program.

Cayer and drivers Julie Blankenship and Carolyn Searfoss were recognized by the California Highway Patrol for their outstanding safety records in 1985. The award honored individual drivers for achieving 100,000 accident-free school bus miles.

According to Cayer, school buses are the safest mode of transportation, and Arcadia holds an excellent safety record in comparison to accidents as listed by the State of California. She adds that nearly half of the drivers personally live in Arcadia.

The drivers operate 11 home-to-school routes daily including special education routes in which students are picked up throughout the San Gabriel Valley.

Arcadia's bus fleet includes 11 vehicles ranging from 16 passenger vans to the full-size transmit bus which seats 79.

Cayer, a qualified State Driving Instructor, points out that extensive training is required of potential drivers even before an applicant seeks to obtain the required School Bus Driver's Certificate from the California Highway Patrol.

An applicant must complete a 40-hour course which includes classroom instruction as well as behind the wheel training, pass both written and driving tests administered by the CHP, show proof of a first aid certificate and have a medical certificate.

Current Arcadia drivers, in addition to those mentioned, are Elvia Corona, Riduan Dunia, Mona Howell, Kathy Holst, Thorma Hunter, Grace Larsen, Debbie Perra and Cheri Phillips.

ALA and auxiliaries have tea at Lincoln's

New provisionals of Assistance League of Arcadia and its two auxiliaries, Las Alas and Assisteens, were welcomed at a tea held at the home of Carole Lincoln last week.

Jo Ann Scott, ALA president, greeted members with Beverly Street, Las Alas president, and Lyn Bowen, Assisteens chairman.

Each provisional was presented with a floral basket as she was introduced by Patti Thinger, event chairman. New chapter provisionals are Lolita Altmayer, Carol Curtis, Mary Dougherty, Joan Flinn, Susie Gallagher, Sheri Meyers, Carol O'Dell, Amy Ryan, Shevaun Teegarden and Jane Wall.

La Alas provisionals are Maggie Corio, Shirley Forden, Miriam Kranser, Ann Nader, Gwen Slater and Carol Whipple.

Assisteen provisionals, daughters of current and incoming members, include Bonnie Flinn, Debbie Gallagher, Melinda McGrath, Katie Ryan, Michelle Sismondo and Jenifer Wall.

Assisting with arangements for the traditional event were Martha Bermingham, Lesley Bridgeman, Alice Brodhead, Patti Dolan, Pepper McCullough and Betty Rochefort.

Past Assistance League presidents Lil Brandley, Bea Chute, Eleanor Kemp, Gloria Koeppel, Marilyn Knoblauch and Carol Papay assisted at the tea table, which was coordinated by Judy Fickas and committee members Ferne Anderson, Sally Butler, Merrilyn Gilchriest, Janie Hiatt, Nancy Lamp, Jean Puckett, Fran Stocking, Grace Tallon, Helen Thorpe, Suzanne Tomkins and Charlene Zoller.

Assistance League of Arcadia, a chapter of National Assitance League, is a nonprofit, nonpartisan and nonsectarian organization

Chang receives 'Apple' award

Min Mey Chang received the 1988 Golden Apple Award from the Northwest San Gabriel Valley Administrators Association this morning (Apr. 28) at a breakfast meeting held in Madonna Hall of Santa Teresita Hospital in Duarte.

Arcadia Superintendent of Schools Stephen A. Goldstone presented the award which recognizes individuals in area school districts who have made significant contributions to education and youth.

Chang has made a significant difference in parent involvement in the schools and particularly in the English-as-a-Second-Langauge program, according to Gladstone who pointed out that she encourages limited and non-English speaking parents to become a part of the school community the PTA fundraisers, attendance at school events, teacher contacts, etc.

Additionally, Chang assists new parents and students enroll in school and helps them understand the educational system, serves as PTA multicultural chairman and organizes math and Chinese game demonstrations at schools.

The Chinese School, which was organized by Change and her husband, provides opportunites for cultural development, language attainment and home work assistance.

The Changs have lived in Arcadia for nine years with their three children: James, age 17; Peter, 15; Richard, 9.

Children present music program

An Elementary School Instrumental Music Program will be presented at the Monday, May 2 meeting of the Arcadia Community Coordinating Council. The noon meeting will be held at the Church of the Good Shepherd, 400 W. Duarte Rd., Arcadia.

The purpose of the Coordinating Council is to facilitate the exchange of community information and encourage voluntary cooperation among organizations. Guests are welcome; however, reservations are required, according to Helen Baird who accepts reservations at 447-2159. The luncheon cost is $4.50.

Fathers, daughters enjoy square dancing

Square dancing will be featured when Holly Avenue Elementary School sponsors its annaul Father Daughter Night on Tuesday, May 3, 7 p.m. in the North Gym at Arcadia High School.

Dick Shroads will call the square dancing for the evening of fun, not fundraising, according to co-chairman Judy Swift and Sandy White. The event is offered free to Holly Avenue girls and their fathers.

For information, call the foundation at 447-8207.

Camp Chiquita sign-up

Join Director P.J. Wade and Smokey the Bear at Camp Chiquita Sunday, May 15, from 12:30 to 4 p.m. to celebrate a new camping season for Camp Fire. Reservations must be in by May 6.

This event is sponsored by the Wasewagan Alumni Association. For more information call (818) 355-9810.

Library Friends sponsor book sale

The Friends of the Arcadia Public Library will sponsor its 30th Annual Used Book Sale on Saturday, May 7 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Cay Mortenson Art and Lecture Room of the library and in the adjoining patio at 20 W. Duarte Rd., Arcadia.

Gloria Horstman, book sale chairman, states, "We have a marvelous selection of books this year, and we will feature a "specials section" offering small collections of P. G. Wodehouse, James Joyce and Edgar Rice Burroughs as well as larger collections on Egypt, writing and "locals only," an assortment of books about Southern California.

Prices for standard paperbacks will be 35 cents or three for $1; and most hardbacks, which are individually priced, will be under $1, with thousands less than 50 cents.

According to Friends' president Mavis Dumbacher, "The Arcadia Friends' book sale provides the largest quantity, greatest variety and lowest prices for standard books in the San Gabriel Valley."

Buck-a-Bag Sale will commence at 4 p.m., when patrons may buy large paper bags for $1 each and fill them with books. This feature is the climax of the sale and lasts one hour.

FRIENDS SPONSOR SALE — Collection book donations for the annual Used Book Sale sponsored by the Friends of the Arcadia Public Library are Clair Grein and Doris Selmer.
